

About the Major

The Department of Psychology facilitates student learning of core psychological knowledge, skills, and values and supports students' career aspirations and academic goals through quality teaching, mentoring, and advising. The department encourages faculty and students participation in the community through meaningful service and research.

Careers

Students with bachelor's degrees in psychology find career opportunities in some mental health services and in the fields of teaching, research, management, sales, accounting and finance, employee relations, and many more.

- Graduates pursue graduate studies in psychology, social work, and many other fields at schools such as Temple University, Frostburg State University, University of Florida, and Queens College
- Psychology program graduates have successful careers at mental health facilities. Other professions include teachers, legal assistants, and bank fraud analysts.

Get Involved

Psi Chi International Honor Society in Psychology

Psi Chi is the international honor society in psychology. Psi Chi members are eligible for research and travel awards and grants from the Psi Chi national organization to assist senior thesis. Members also have the opportunity presenting their research at the Southeastern Psychological Association annual meeting.

Psychology Club

The Psychology Club allows members to explore psychology outside of the classroom setting. It promotes interest in psychology through events and activities and gives the opportunity to interact among students, faculty, and community

Points of Pride

- Students at Shepherd have the opportunity to get hands-on experience in the field. Students have worked as interns at local mental health facilities and engaged in research with faculty members that led to presentations at professional conferences.

Biopsychology class students examine a human brain and learn about anatomy and how the brain functions.
