From the President

It is hard to believe that as I write this, I am looking back on my sixth year at Shepherd. Randy and I have enjoyed becoming a part of this great community and feel fortunate for having joined the university family.

The past year had its share of challenges. Despite increased competition for students and tight budgets, our campus came together to make great things happen. We opened the underpass which not only improved safety but also created the link that now defines us as one campus. A dedicated team of faculty and staff worked to create the university's first extended learning site in Martinsburg, therefore creating greater access to working adults who are completing their first degree or pursuing a graduate degree. We achieved full accreditation from the Higher Learning Commission and were commended for our work to address concerns for faculty teaching in overload.

Through all of this, your continued support instilled us with confidence that our efforts are recognized and worthwhile. Your gifts are appreciated. Because of our benefactors we were able to increase scholarship funds for students and begin a new program that will support our students as they compete for prestigious awards such as Fulbright and Rhodes scholarships. With your help, the second phase of Center for Contemporary Arts became a reality, providing classrooms, studios, and performing spaces for this year's students. The soccer complex received an upgrade when we added an artificial turf competition field and improved the practice field. In short, your gifts impacted every facet of the university by opening access with financial support, supporting academic excellence, and providing improved facilities for learning and competition.

I especially want to thank the charter members of the Leadership Circle. Through your unrestricted gifts you are providing Shepherd a resource for staying strong through these challenging times. You enable us to take advantage of emerging opportunities. You lead by your example and you inspire us to keep moving.

Sincerely,

Suzanne Shipley, Ph.D.
President
Shepherd University

Dr. Suzanne Shipley

New CCA II theater named in honor of Marinoffs

The new 180-seat theater in the Center for Contemporary Arts II was named the Stanley C. and Shirley A. Marinoff Theater in spring 2013 in recognition of a legacy endowment contribution to the Shepherd University Foundation by Dr. Stanley C. Marinoff, of Shepherdstown and Chevy Chase, Maryland, and in memory of his late wife Shirley.

Shepherd hosts annual COPLAC meeting

Shepherd served as the host of the annual meeting of the Council of Public Liberal Arts Colleges (COPLAC) in June 2013. COPLAC drives awareness of the value of high quality, public liberal arts education. Its 27 members represent 25 states and one Canadian province.

Community service outreach honored for fifth year by President's Honor Roll

Shepherd University has been named to the 2013 President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll, the highest federal recognition a college or university can receive for its commitment to volunteering, service learning, and civic engagement. This marks the fifth year Shepherd has received the honor.

Scarborough Society celebrates 10th anniversary

The Shepherd University Foundation's Scarborough Society celebrated its 10th anniversary on August 23, 2012 with a public reception and open house to recognize the society's partnership with the Scarborough Library staff and their commitment to developing information technology and resources for Shepherd students, faculty, and the surrounding community over the past decade.

Princeton Review recognizes Shepherd as a Best University in the Southeast

Shepherd University was named one of the best colleges and universities in the southeast according to the Princeton Review's website. The New York City-based education services company selected Shepherd as one of 136 institutions it recommends in its "Best in the Southeast" section on its website feature 2013 Best Colleges: Region by Region.

Clockwise, from top left: The underpass project, which links Shepherd's east and west campuses, was officially opened with a ribbon-cutting ceremony in January 2013. Among the dignitaries speaking at the event was Congresswoman Shelley Moore Capito, R-W.Va. The $5.65 million project increases pedestrian safety and improves traffic flow on one of Shepherdstown's main thoroughfares.

The City of Martinsburg and the United Way of the Eastern Panhandle were the first two entities to take advantage of the Strategic Alliance Partnership program offered by Shepherd University's Martinsburg Center, which allows in-state and out-of-state students to take classes with savings up to 25 percent off the current tuition at no cost to the employer. President Suzanne Shipley and the United Way's CEO Peter Mulford signed agreement documents at the June 2013 signing ceremony.

Shepherd's M.B.A. program in conjunction with Shepherdstown's 250 Anniversary celebration hosted a senatorial debate among Senator Joe Manchin, D-W.Va., Republican candidate John Raese, and Mountain Party candidate Dr. Bob Henry Baber on October 2, 2012 in Reynolds Hall. Pictured (l. to r.) are Dr. Chip Zimmer, coordinator of the M.B.A. program; John Raese, Joe Manchin, and Bob Henry Baber.

Paul and Lisa Welch fund Distinguished Awards Program

Shepherd University announced the Paul and Lisa Welch Distinguished Awards Program at a reception honoring its namesakes in McMurrin Hall in April 2013. The program will foster and mentor students, faculty, and staff applying for national and international awards and scholarships, like Fulbright, Rhodes, MacArthur, and Gates.

BOG approves 10-year master plan

The Board of Governors approved a new 10-year master plan in June 2013 developed by noted architectural firm Robert A.M. Stern. The plan addresses parking, a walkable campus, and smaller residential housing units.

CCA II ribbon cutting held in April 2013

The second phase of the Center for Contemporary Arts was officially opened during a ribbon-cutting ceremony April 18, 2013. State bond funding of $11.8 million for the Center for Contemporary Arts Phase II was matched with $2.08 million in private funds from supporters of the Contemporary American Theater Festival and Shepherd University's Create the Future campaign.

Effects of terrorist attacks on voting examined

Dr. Joseph W. Robbins, assistant professor of political science, had an article, which examines his time-series cross-sectional project findings that terrorist attacks impact voter turnout in meaningful ways, accepted for publication in the Journal of Peace Research.

Beard honored as distinguished leader

Dr. Scott Beard, dean of graduate studies, associate vice president for academic affairs, and professor of music, was named the West Virginia Music Teachers Association 2012 Distinguished Leader of the Year.

Nolan named ACE fellow; honored for leadership

Dr. Colleen Nolan, professor of biology and dean of the School of Natural Sciences and Mathematics, was selected as an ACE fellow for academic year 2012-13 by the American Council on Education. She was named the 2013 Women's Professional and Academic Leadership honoree by Washington State University's College of Agricultural, Human, and Natural Resource Sciences and Extension.

Coltrin presents a paper at London's Tate Britain

Dr. Chris Coltrin, assistant professor of art history, traveled to Tate Britain in London, which houses the foremost collection of British art in the world, to present a paper titled "The Wounded Landscape: The Politics of Urban Destruction in John Martin's Mesopotamian Trilogy."

Kushin publishes article in public opinion journal

Dr. Matthew J. Kushin, assistant professor of mass communications, was the co-author of an article, "Social capital and the spiral of silence," published in the International Journal of Public Opinion Research.

Renewable energy event funded with $15K grant

Dr. Jeffrey Groff, assistant professor of physics, and Dr. Ed Snyder, professor of environmental studies, were awarded a $15,000 West Virginia Division of Energy State Energy Program Grant which funded a two-day conference on renewable energy held at Shepherd in April 2013.

Students place first at state science meeting

Four Shepherd students placed first in their categories at the annual meeting of the West Virginia Academy of Science (WVAS) at the Canaan Valley Institute in Davis April 2013.

Benjamin Hackett, a biology major from Morgantown, took first in undergraduate oral presentations with his research and analysis "Investigating the Cellular Long-term Memory Foundation and Disruption in the Pond Snail, Lymnaea Palustris" with Dr. Carol Plautz, associate professor of biology. Nathan Brandt, an environmental studies senior from Frederick, Maryland, and Sarah Barry, an environmental chemistry senior from Martinsburg, won in the undergraduate biology poster division. Rhonda Williams, a chemistry senior from Martinsburg, won for non-biology. In all, 26 students and eight faculty members attended the meeting.

Gilmore writes tree-planting grant

Shepherd's Third Annual Arbor Day Tree Planting event took place in April 2013 with 21 volunteers planting 24 native trees near the retention pond on University Drive. The planting was made possible by a West Virginia Project CommuniTree grant through the Cacapon Institute. Emily Gilmore, an environmental sciences major wrote the grant. Shepherd alumnus Tanner Haid '10, the urban forestry coordinator for Cacapon Institute, helped guide Gilmore through the grant-submission process and also taught the volunteers how to plant the trees.

'Soldiers to Scholars' topic of oral history project

Students in Dr. Keith Alexander's oral history class presented a report on their "Soldiers to Scholars" oral history project at the Shepherdstown Museum's Opening Party in April 2013. The students reported on interviews with soldiers who served in recent or earlier wars and then transitioned to university studies. Many were current Shepherd students, and all are local residents. The project was made possible by a grant from the West Virginia Campus-Community Compact. The goal of the project was to capture and document the experiences of local citizens who have made the difficult transition from wartime service to peacetime studies.

Clockwise, from top left: Alpha Phi Omega members were among representatives of student groups during the annual Involvement Fair held September 2012. Organizations created displays on the Midway to provide students with information about the many service and special interest clubs on campus.

Members of the lacrosse team joined the annual Founders Day parade that made its way from McMurrin Hall to the amphitheater. Dr. John Stealey III, Distinguished Professor Emeritus of History, gave a lecture titled "Another Shepherd Founder."

Rude Mechanicals perform in California

The Rude Mechanicals Medieval and Renaissance Players led by Dr. Betty Ellzey, chair of the Department of English and Modern Languages, received an invitation to perform a program of medieval French farces at the University of California Santa Barbara in May 2013. The group of nine students and two alumni performed farces that have not been performed publicly since the 16th century.

Students present at nursing research conference

Shepherd University, in partnership with the Martinsburg VA Medical Center, hosted its fourth annual Nursing Research Conference November 2012. One hundred and twenty area nurses and Shepherd nursing students attended the conference. Three students made podium presentations. They were Jennifer Fedele, of Boonsboro, Maryland, presenting "Pressure Ulcers," Amanda Giuliani, of Harpers Ferry, presenting "Dental Health Care and Pregnancy," and Candice Martin, of Middletown, Maryland, presenting "Evidence-Based Practice: A Comparison in Home Dialysis Treatment."

Another 55 students had peer-reviewed poster presentations regarding evidence-based practice. They included use of larval therapy in treating chronic wounds, hypothermia use following cardiac arrest, and adolescent obesity. In addition, the conference awards scholarships annually. This year's recipients were Amanda Guiliani, of Harpers Ferry, Karis Nolen, of Lake George, New York, and Rosemary Kidwiler, who is a VA employee and also a clinical nurse educator at Shepherd.

Team travels to financial planning competition

A team from Shepherd University's financial planning club competed in the 2012 Financial Planning Challenge at the Financial Planning Association's annual conference in San Antonio, Texas, in September 2012. Competing were Jennie Tomcho, of Martinsburg, Melanie Vincent, of Hedgesville, and Ginny Huston, of Falling Waters. The challenge was created to support the next generation of financial planners by engaging students and program directors, raising awareness of career opportunities, and encouraging learning and networking in the profession.

Chamber Singers garner finalist honors

The Chamber Singers, under the direction of Dr. Erik Jones, were named finalists in the 2012 American Prize in choral performance, college/university division. The American Prize is a series of new, nonprofit national competitions providing cash awards, professional adjudication, and regional, national, and international recognition for the best recorded performances of music by ensembles and individuals each year in the United States at the professional, college/university, church, community, and secondary school levels.

Moreno named ACPA ambassador

Graduate student José Moreno, of Kearneysville, was named student ambassador for the 2013 American College Personnel Association (ACPA), College Student Educators International Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada. Moreno was the third consecutive college student development and administration graduate student selected as student ambassador within ACPA. Christopher Bryant, of Point Pleasant, was a 2012 ambassador, and Sage Ober, of Mechanicsburg, Pennsylvania, was a 2011 ambassador.

Stark writes first novel

Senior Rachel Stark, a communications and new media major from Petersburg, wrote her first novel, titled A Veil of Shattered Dreams. Two Shepherd students, Caitlyn See, a communications major from Moorefield, and Danielle Gesford, a photography major from Hagerstown, Maryland, collaborated with Stark on the final product. See posed for the book's cover. Gesford photographed and helped design the cover.

Taggart-Perez receives study abroad scholarship

Senior Valerie Taggart-Perez, a fine arts major from Martinsburg, received a $3,500 Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship for her study abroad in St. Petersburg, Russia. The program is sponsored by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs at the U.S. Department of State and is administered by the Institute of International Education.

Bears provide hands-on experience for class

Twelve students in Dr. Peter Vila's wildlife management class traveled to a site near Elkins after a snowfall to track and monitor black bears with a team of state biologists in January 2013. The trip was an effort to introduce the students to professional life in wildlife management and to show them research conducted in the field. The West Virginia Division of Natural Resources (WVDNR) staff radio tags and follows the bears to study their hibernation, health, and growth and survival rates.

Bob Wantz '55 honored as Outstanding Alumnus

Robert A. "Bobby" Wantz '55, of Hagerstown, Maryland, was honored during the 2012-13 academic year by the Shepherd University Alumni Association as Outstanding Alumnus of the Year. Bob earned a B.S. in biology and an A.B. in secondary education at Shepherd and an M.Ed. in administration and supervision from Western Maryland College (now McDaniel College). He is a retired principal, having served at Clear Spring (Maryland) Middle School for 16 years. Bob also served as vice principal at Williamsport (Maryland) High School. While attending Shepherd, he lettered in football for four years and swimming for two years as a diver, and was a member of Zeta Sigma fraternity and the Varsity Club. Bob is also an award-winning watercolor artist in the local community. Bob continues to be actively involved with Shepherd as a longtime director for the Shepherd University Alumni Association and a member of the Ram Gridiron Club and Phi Kappa Phi Honor Society.

Alumni networking reception outreach

The Office of Alumni Affairs hosted a series of alumni networking receptions this year. Locations included Bonefish Grill in Glen Burnie, Maryland; Blackfinn Ameripub in Merifield, Virginia; Sussex Pines Country Club, Sussex Delaware; and Camden Yards in Baltimore, Maryland.

Leadership Circle created to honor President Shipley's six years of service

Shepherd University launched a new fundraising initiative in April 2013 to honor and recognize President Suzanne Shipley's accomplishments during her six years of service. Alumni and friends of the university have come together to create the Leadership Circle by making unrestricted gifts of $1,000 or more annually. These leadership gifts enable Shepherd to take advantage of emerging opportunities as well as to meet critical needs for student scholarships, faculty support, and research initiatives.

Clockwise, from far left: McMurrin Hall was decked out in blue and gold as Foundation and Alumni Association banners welcomed alumni and friends to Homecoming 2012.

Jeff Hedges '69 was the keynote speaker at Shepherd's annual Professional Connections Day in April 2013. Hedges, senior vice president sales for CBS Radio, regaled undergraduates with anecdotes about his long career in radio and how Shepherd had prepared him for his career. He is joined by (l. to r.) Chris Colbert, president of the Shepherd University Alumni Association, President Suzanne Shipley, and Monica Lingenfelter, executive vice president of the Shepherd University Foundation.

Bill '58 and Jo Ann Jackson '59 Knode were honored during the 140th Commencement ceremony May 2013 when they received the President's Award for their service to Shepherd and the community. Pictured at a commencement brunch are (l. to r.) President Suzanne Shipley, Bill Knode, Jo Ann Knode, and Gat Caperton, chair of Shepherd's Board of Governors.

Alumnae raise money for Yellow House railing

The sisters of Phi Sigma Chi sorority recently completed a successful fundraising campaign to install a decorative railing at the Yellow House (Entler-Weltzheimer House) on High Street behind Snyder Hall. The iron railing was designed, crafted, and forged by local blacksmiths Frank Graves and Daniel Tokar and bears an inscription honoring the Phi Sigma Chi Sorority and commemorating the Yellow House, which served as the sorority's home during the 1940s, 1950s, and 1960s.

Alumni website gets a new look

The alumni website ShepConnect.shepherd.edu recently received a long overdue makeover. First launched in 2009, ShepConnect allows alumni to register for events, keep up to date on news, and make online gifts to the university. The new look is more interactive and provides alumni with easier site navigation.

Athletic Hall of Fame

The Athletic Hall of Fame inducted four new members during the annual banquet held at the Clarion Hotel and Conference Center, Shepherdstown, on November 9, 2012. The 27th induction class included Vic Holmes '74 (basketball and baseball), Joe Reel '72 (football), Jodie Runner (women's basketball coach 1997-2009), and Greg Stup '96 (football). Also honored was Paul "Soupy" Hillyard '58, who was awarded the Hall of Fame medallion for his dedication to the Hall of Fame and Shepherd athletics.

Professional Connections Day held March 2013

The Alumni Association sponsored the fourth annual Professional Connections Day in partnership with the School of Business and Social Sciences and the Office of Career Services in March 2013. Alumni from the business community, both private and public, participated in various sessions, covering topics ranging from emerging issues in the workplace, conflict resolution, leadership development, and civic engagement. Morning sessions were followed by a networking lunch to allow participants to meet the business professionals.

This year's keynote speaker was Jeff Hedges '69, senior vice president sales at CBS Radio. Hedges was a speech and drama major and an English minor at Shepherd and a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity, in addition to working his way through school as a DJ, first at WEPM in Martinsburg and later at WXVA in Charles Town. He spoke to students about his first break at NBC in major market sales management and how his education and the confidence instilled in him while at Shepherd contributed to his success.

Clockwise, from top left: The naming of the new Stanley C. and Shirley A. Marinoff Theater in the Center for Contemporary Arts II recognized a legacy gift to the Shepherd University Foundation by Dr. Stanley C. Marinoff, of Shepherdstown and Chevy Chase, Maryland, in his name and in memory of his late wife Shirley. The endowment supports the educational initiatives and artistic programming of the Contemporary American Theater Festival (CATF), hosted at Shepherd University since 1991. "Endowment gifts to the Shepherd Foundation serve as the backbone to the long-term growth and future of the university," said President Suzanne Shipley during a private naming ceremony for the 180-seat theater and multipurpose venue held in February and attended by Dr. Marinoff (l.) and his daughter Allison Marinoff Carle and son-in-law Eric Carle. In his remarks, Marinoff praised Shepherd and the CATF as pillars for the continued vibrancy of Shepherdstown, saying, "With this gift, I know that future CATF seasons and university students will be supported—in perpetuity—by our family."

As co-owners of Ridgefield Farms, a 35-acre working farm in Jefferson County, Dr. Scott Beard (r.) and Alan Gibson provide the surrounding county with fresh produce in addition to hosting weddings, holiday and birthday parties, hay rides and pumpkin-picking, and a spectacular tribute to Halloween. But at the 12th annual Scarborough Society Gala, Scott—a nationally recognized pianist and Shepherd's graduate studies dean and associate vice president for academic affairs—and Alan—who previously owned a Washington, D.C., PR and advertising firm—looked debonair in tuxedos as they paid homage to the Roaring '20s at the Great Gatsby-themed event. Scott and Alan often attend university and community events and are active supporters of the Friends of Music and Shepherd's music department.

Sections of a 54-panel collaborative mural created by Shepherd art students will be purchased by the 2013 senior class and proceeds from the sale will be donated to the Sara Beth Chroussis Fund. The fund was originally established in 2007 after students held an art show and donated all proceeds from it to the Shepherd University Foundation in memory of Sara Chroussis, a senior art major who passed away unexpectedly on New Year's Eve. More than $7,500 was raised through the art sale, along with individual contributions. Originally exhibited in the Shepherd Bookstore as part of the Visual Literacy Student Art Show, the mural was the work of more than 75 Shepherd art students.

Katelyn Stoneberger

Katelyn Stoneberger '13 of Harpers Ferry was the first in her family to attend college and paid for it with student loans and her own personal income. She was also the recipient of the C. Brown and Hazel Hendricks Scholarship, established by Hazel McDonald Hendricks in homage to her and her husband's high regard for Shepherd University and higher education in general.

After teaching home economics at the high school level followed by an 11-year tenure at Shepherd, Hazel Hendricks hoped to encourage other students pursuing degrees in a field for which she was passionate. The endowed scholarship is designated for family and consumer sciences students or those in related fields such as psychology, arts, or music. An art and photography major, Katelyn reflects on the significance of her award, saying, "I did not have parental funding, so this scholarship really helped me out with tuition and textbook costs."

As a native of Shepherdstown, Shepherd adjunct faculty member Dr. Michael M. Athey '62 is deeply committed to Shepherd University and the surrounding community. Now retired from his roles as professor of teacher education courses at West Virginia University and fire safety instructor with the WVU Extension Service, the former educator and supervisor with Berkeley County Public Schools continues to serve as a longtime member of the Shepherdstown Fire Department.

A recently inducted Emeritus Club member, Mike also performs adjunct professorship duties in his Special Methods in Teaching Science course and often attends athletic events at Shepherd. When he began to consider his own legacy in 1995 after the death of his father, Mike had no hesitations about giving back to his alma mater and wished for his gift to reflect his varied interests. In 2013, he established the Michael M. Athey, Ed.D. Endowed Scholarship with a deferred gift designated for students pursuing studies in the area of science education, in addition to student athletes, with a preference for those participating in men's and women's basketball and volleyball. As a new member of the Joseph P. McMurren Society, Mike enjoyed mingling with other members and guests at this year's Joseph P. McMurren Society Dinner in April. Pictured (l. to r.) are Anne Harris '61, Charles French '63, Athey, and Pat Egle '60.

The Joseph P. McMurren Society was established at Shepherd University to honor those who have chosen to provide for the future of Shepherd University with a bequest or other planned gift. As Shepherd's first president, Joseph McMurren began a tradition of philanthropy, setting academic standards that required him to make personal financial sacrifices in order to keep the college open.

This tradition is carried on today by the Society's members, many of whom gathered together at the annual Joseph P. McMurren Society Dinner reception held in the atrium of Erma Ora Byrd Hall. Here Society members (l. to r.) Stephen Skinner, Luella Jo and Paul (Soupy) '58 Hillyard, and Foundation president Mike '89 and Wendy Smith mingle with Sharon '70 and Jim '59 Brown, who attended this year's event as guests. Jim and Sharon recently endowed the James and Sharon Devol Brown Scholarship in support of student athletes majoring in education, with a preference for men's basketball players.

Jerry '71 and Nelda '71 Williams and Lisa '87 and John '88 Wolff

Rob Shaw

Shepherd University is proud to recognize John Wolff '88, CEO and managing director of Capital Fiduciary Advisors, a prominent wealth management firm with offices in Leesburg, Reston, and Vienna, Virginia, and Jerry Williams '71, an agent with State Farm Insurance in Martinsburg, for their ongoing support and commitment in serving as program sponsors for the annual Scarborough Gala.

Jerry and his wife, Nelda '71, (l.) and John and his wife, Lisa '87 (r.) pose beside a 1926 Chrysler at the 11th annual gala, which drew upon F. Scott Fitzgerald's great American novel of triumph and tragedy, The Great Gatsby, for its theme. Serving as the annual fundraiser in support of Shepherd's Scarborough Library and its programs and activities, the gala netted almost $24,000 in 2012 with the help of sponsors like John and Jerry and their firms.

T. Guy Reynolds '33, President Suzanne Shipley, and Randy Wadsworth

T. Guy Reynolds '33 is 100 years old and still flying high. The oldest known pilot in West Virginia celebrated this milestone birthday on December 1, 2012 up in the air while friends and family, including President Suzanne Shipley and her husband Randy Wadsworth, waited for him to join them on the ground to commemorate the occasion.

A native of Berkeley County, Reynolds graduated from Shepherd College with a degree in education and was named Outstanding Alumnus in 2006. In 2000, Guy endowed the John Thomas Reynolds Scholarship in honor of his son, a 1964 graduate of Shepherd, who only one year earlier had established the Thomas Guy Reynolds Scholarship in honor of his father. Both scholarships support students majoring in education.

Following his graduation from Shepherd, Guy taught in Berkeley County until 1952. He then began working for Corning, where he enjoyed an exemplary career until his retirement. But flying is his true passion. "I love to see God's creation," said Guy, who celebrated his 93rd birthday with his first parachute jump. "And you can see it from up there."

Leadership Circle

Shepherd University is pleased to announce the launch of the Leadership Circle. The group was formed to honor and recognize the work of Dr. Suzanne Shipley during her first six years as president.

Membership in the Leadership Circle is extended to individuals who have shown uncommon commitment to Shepherd's academic excellence through their annual support. Their willingness to invest in Shepherd through annual gifts of $1,000 to $5,000 (or more) has set the leadership standard for all alumni and friends of the university. Their gifts to the university are a true demonstration of Shepherd passion and pride.

A defensive lineman on the 1982 and 1983 football teams, Eugene Lugat '83 enthusiastically supports Shepherd University's Ram Nation. He is a charter member of the Ram Gridiron Club, which honored him in 2005 for his long-standing commitment to the SU football program. In 2012, under the firm belief that the appeal of Division II football lies with the student-athlete, Eugene and his wife Christine established the Eugene and Christine Lugat Defensive Player Football Scholarship. Through the creation of this annually funded award, he hopes his fellow teammates and other former players will consider pledging their own private gifts in support of Shepherd's defensive positions.

Eugene is a former member of the Shepherd University Foundation's Board of Directors and is among the members of the distinguished Joseph P. McMurrin Society who intend to provide for the future of Shepherd University with a planned gift.

Sharon Drummeter

Sharon Drummeter was a well-loved and respected assistant nursing professor at Shepherd University, having joined the nursing department as a visiting professor in the fall of 2008 with a clinical specialty in critical care and gerontological nursing. Sharon was an expert clinician and maintained her clinical practice competencies working with both the Berkeley County Health Department and ICU at City Hospital during her tenure at Shepherd.

Service and volunteerism were hallmarks of Sharon's contributions to Shepherd and she was extremely devoted to her students. When she was diagnosed with acute myeloid lymphoma in July 2011, Sharon mentored the medical students on her treatment team at Georgetown University Hospital and viewed her chemotherapy treatments as an opportunity to help them refine their diagnostic and bedside skills. "She was always focused on her students," said Louis Drummeter, Sharon's husband of 29 years. "She really tried to mentor her students and give them the benefit of her experience, which I think is key in education."

Despite a period of remission from December 2011 through July of 2012, Sharon succumbed to her cancer on August 27, 2012 with her husband and daughter, Leah, by her side. As a token of his gratitude to Shepherd for being so supportive during Sharon's illness, Lou established the Professor Sharon R. Drummeter Endowed Scholarship for Nursing in June 2013. "Sharon was the recipient of a nursing scholarship when she started nursing school for her associate's degree," Lou said, noting that giving back was something Sharon always did during her life.

David Crites '09, Pamela Crites '99, and Dr. Heidi Hanrahan

David '09 and Pamela '99 Crites are active alumni and frequent guests at the annual Joseph P. McMurran Society Dinner, where they are pictured chatting with Dr. Heidi Hanrahan (r), an associate professor of English and modern languages who serves on the Shepherd University Foundation's Board of Directors and its executive committee. The Criteses are fund contacts for the Amanda Smailes Memorial Scholarship, which honors the memory of Pamela's sister and former Shepherd student, Amanda Smailes, who was killed by a drunk driver fleeing West Virginia State Police. As a result of this tragedy, the West Virginia legislature passed the Smailes Bill (H.B. 2221) which deems causing police chases and injury to innocent bystanders a felony. The scholarship is designated for a nursing major from Berkeley County.

Hanrahan also is a dedicated member of the Shepherd community. In 2011, she was awarded the Annette Murphy Faculty Excellence Fund in English. A prominent businesswoman and community leader, Annette Murphy created this faculty excellence award out of awareness for the importance of recruiting quality English faculty to inspire students.

The award helped fund research for a course and travel practicum Hanrahan plans to teach in the spring of 2014 titled American Literature in the Prominence of Place. With plans to focus the course around writers of the American Renaissance, she funded a trip to Massachusetts to visit several important literary landmarks she planned to introduce in the course, including the homes and haunts of major 19th-century writers like Ralph Waldo Emerson, Emily Dickinson, Louisa May Alcott, and Herman Melville. Doing so added a new dimension to the way she approaches her students and classes. "My teaching has become less abstract and more specific and real, both for me and for my students," says Hanrahan of her award. "Supporting faculty as researchers absolutely makes them better teachers."

LIBRARY MISCELLANEOUS: Scarborough Library program support

Ann Wilson Hummer '69 knows firsthand how great the needs are in school library systems, particularly in the areas of media and technology. Hummer enjoyed a 38-year career in the field of education and library management, working her way from a school librarian at the elementary and secondary levels to a library media director with Frederick County Public Schools in Maryland. In 2002, she left library management to take on the role of director of professional development for Frederick County Schools at the personal behest of the superintendent. The move was all at once a gift and a challenge. "It was hard to leave the library world," said Ann, who not surprisingly lists reading among her favorite pastimes, along with golf, yoga, and traveling.

Now retired, Ann reflects on Shepherd with fondness and gratitude for the educational livelihood it offered her, saying, "I got an excellent beginning at Shepherd, which gave me the impetus to move forward in what was ultimately a successful career." It was such sentiment that led her to establish the Ann Wilson Hummer Endowment for the Scarborough Library in support of Shepherd's library program. Not only does the deferred gift pay homage to her professional roots, it also reflects her personal belief that the library touches all aspects of a college campus. The bequest also allows the 1967 McMurren Scholar to become a member of the prestigious Joseph P. McMurren Society, joining other alumni and friends who have expressed their desire to provide for the future of Shepherd University with a planned gift.

John Boyle and Wayne Hawkins

John Boyle of Sterling, Virginia, created the Boyle Family Scholarship in tribute to the positive experience his daughter, Colleen Boyle '12, had as a student at Shepherd University. The annually funded award is designated for students who are actively involved with Shepherd's marching band.

"As a father, I saw my daughter grow and thrive at Shepherd," said John, who acknowledged that Colleen's active involvement with the band and music department helped ease her transition into college. As John and his wife began to attend Shepherd football games in support of Colleen's band activities, they grew to love the university's community-based culture, with Boyle volunteering to administer the Shepherd Ram Band and Shepherd Ram Football Fans Facebook pages. "My daughter has benefitted in so many ways from her experiences at Shepherd," he said. "I just wanted to give something back, particularly to the marching band." With his fund, John chose to invest in the educations of individual band members as a show of appreciation for the spirit they evoke from the crowd and the players at Shepherd's various sporting events. One such member is Wayne Hawkins, a music education major and the first recipient of the Boyle Family Scholarship. Hawkins plays the saxophone in the Shepherd Ram band, in addition to mentoring underclassmen band mates. Following graduation, he would like to become a music teacher, saying, "Music has a really strong force in this world."

Help Shepherd University continue to create a culture of success

Carolyn Willie

Shepherd University is in a perpetual state of growth and development. From the Route 480 underpass now safely connecting east and west campuses to the new Martinsburg Center, Shepherd continues to expand and establish itself as a premier liberal arts university on campus and beyond.

But the changing landscape is as cultural as it is physical, manifested through grants and private funding that help support Shepherd's students, faculty, and programs. Over the past year, several alumni and friends contributed to this cultural evolution through their private gifts.

Dr. Stanley A. Marinoff's legacy gift supporting the educational initiatives and artistic programming of the Contemporary American Theater Festival (CATF) was recognized by the naming of Shepherd's newest academic and creative arts venue, located in the second phase of the Center for Contemporary Arts, the Stanley C. and Shirley A. Marinoff Theater. In his remarks during a private naming ceremony in February, Dr. Marinoff praised the CATF and Shepherd University for opening minds and inspiring critical thinking through education and the arts.

Kristin Alexander

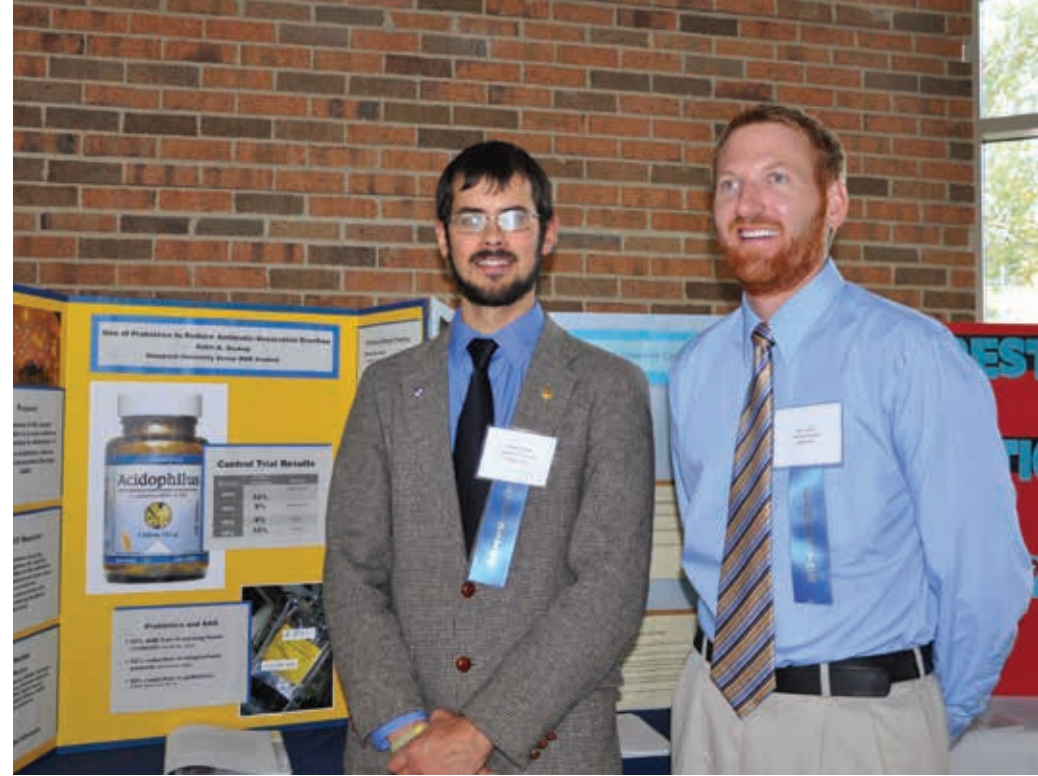

Motivated by a deep gratitude to Shepherd for the educational livelihood it gave her, and under the strong belief that university libraries lie at the heart of campus culture, Ann Wilson Hummer '69 created the Ann Wilson Hummer Endowment for the Scarborough Library. The deferred gift will support the programs and activities of Shepherd's library system for generations to come.

While Shepherd is a state-assisted university, state support for institutions of higher learning has been in steady decline in recent years. During the 2012-13 academic year, only 18.7 percent of Shepherd's budget was funded by the state of West Virginia. Private gifts through the Shepherd University Foundation are crucial in funding student scholarships, academic programs, and faculty excellence awards used for academic research and technology that inspire and sustain innovative curriculum.

Shepherd University prides itself on serving as a center for academic, cultural, and economic opportunity in the state of West Virginia. Likewise, Shepherd students have strengthened society as leaders in education, healthcare, business and community affairs, and the arts. And thanks to the generosity of their private gifts, our outstanding alumni and friends have helped build on this strong academic foundation.

Now is the time to support Shepherd's culture of success.
